The Lightship of Brest is located in France, between Brest and the Finisterre. The book is only an introduction, but for Zippy Sazay is something more. The writer from Edab lived for 7 days alone, you can only get there from the land when the tide is out. The book is a diary of his stay, and the time he spent visiting the island of Saint-Marc. "I was interested in discovering the mysteries of the island," explains Sazay, "and fell in love with the beauty of the place and the people who live in contact with the nature. The beauty of the place and you live in contact with the nature. The book is published in January 2005. In May Zippy Sazay is coming to the UK to present the book and to give a talk. I am sure that for another lighthouse keeper she can live her next experience."
